

Indian Communist Revolution – Its Step by Step Process, Moments of Praxis Unfolding

I. Launching the Naxalbari Revolution

As the principal contradiction was enacted in working class areas, of Delhi and Mumbai, the general strike also meant that a unfolding mobilization of the peasants was enacted as secondary contradiction turned principal, this then becomes the worker-peasant alliance necessary under Indian conditions and becomes spontaneity which is an element of planned organisation and fusion under the aspect of leadership, lines and bourgeois mass media reporting.

II. Post-revolutionary Conduct

As the post-revolutionary society commences, a non-principal aspect and secondary non-principal aspect of the popular front becomes principal and unfolds into a number of principal aspects – for instance – education of the university, which includes finding addresses of intellectual classes and phone numbers, including their lives at happiness, which includes under the principal aspect of leadership and international fusion in his housing area, which then develops its praxes, such as the principal aspect gaining under himself a leadership of his conduct – women's housing being cleared, addresses found, phone calls made, visits prepared, invitations all of these are necessary moment of unfolding judged complexly as –

_____Non-Principal Praxis

{Sets of women| _____ {Sets of International Alliances}

Principal – bi-univocal line turns univocal, in an efficiency of grasping the conduct.
